Subject: California Assembly Bill 2998 (Bloom) – Flame Retardant Materials

Dear Customer:

The letter is to inform you of the new law that went into effect January 1, 2020 in the State of California referred to as AB 2998. The law prohibits the sale and distribution of juvenile products, upholstered furniture, and replacement components of reupholstered furniture, including the foam in mattresses, that contain covered flame-retardant chemicals at levels above 1,000 parts per million in California.

In response to increased requests for more environmentally-friendly products, Spradling International, Inc.® announced last year initiatives to remove flame-retardant additives from product lines within our Contract Upholstery portfolio. With the introduction of EcoSense™ and NEO™ patterns, we are well positioned to meet your needs.

A list of Spradling’s FR-free products are provided below, and for more information, please see Spradling’s website at spradlingvinyl.com/neo. Additional information regarding California’s AB 2998 can also be found on Spradling’s website at spradlingvinyl.com/ab-2998-2/.
